R & R - Entity Relationship

The below diagram depicts the ER diagram of the review system:

Details of individual data fields have not been mentioned to focus on the relationships, for the field data, please refer to the Database documentation

Note that since we use a NoSql database, these entities and relationships are not necessarily stored in separate tables (column families) but are instead denormalized